the 1970s, the 1980s, and the 1990s. The 1970s were characterized by a strong emphasis on the environment, the 1980s by a focus on the economy, and the 1990s by a focus on social issues. The 1970s were also a time of significant social change, with the civil rights movement and the women's movement gaining momentum. The 1980s were a time of economic growth, but also of increasing inequality and a growing concern about the environment. The 1990s were a time of social change, with the end of the Cold War and the rise of the Internet. The 1970s, 1980s, and 1990s were all times of significant change and challenge for the United States.

U. S. Army Reports. The New Jersey Legislature, by a vote of 20 to 10, has adopted a resolution, which will have the effect of making it illegal for the State to purchase any goods or services from a contractor who has been convicted of a crime involving dishonesty or fraud within the last five years. The resolution is a direct response to a report by the State Auditor General, who has found that many contractors have been convicted of such crimes. The resolution is a significant step in the fight against corruption in the State's procurement process.
