

ASFPM PRESENTS The 2013 Conference REMEMBERING THE PAST - INSURING THE FUTURE

ASFPM PRESENTS

REMEMBERING THE PAST - INSURING THE FUTURE

The Premier Flood Conference

Join 1,200 of the nation's floodplain managers June 9 - 14, 2013, at the Connecticut Convention Center in Hartford, CT, as we pilot improvements in flood risk management and national policy. Government Officials, planners, engineers, consultants, watershed managers, flood protection product vendors, educators, and others will gather for the most comprehensive floodplain management conference in the world. Participants interact, exchange ideas, make contacts, form partnerships, and prepare for a more sustainable future for flood damage reduction.

Our theme for 2013 is derived from New England's rich history and its vibrant future. The play on words with "insuring" is a tribute to Hartford's status as "the birthplace of insurance." Connecticut is New England's second smallest and southernmost state. Its compact borders contain a variety of landscapes, from the shoreline beaches of Long Island Sound in the south, to urban skylines and quaint historic villages, and hardwood forests in the northwestern and northeastern hills. The Connecticut River Valley cuts through the center of the state. Despite New England's reputation for a rugged climate, Connecticut's weather is moderate, but weather extremes can happen in each of the four well-defined seasons. There are approximately 8,400 miles of rivers and 253 miles of shoreline, which were heavily developed for commercial, residential, and industrial uses during the past 380 years. Flooding is the most prevalent and frequent natural hazard that impacts the state. Flooding can occur anytime of year and consists of coastal, riverine, and urban events resulting from the occurrence of hurricanes, strong summer thunderstorms, winter storms (nor'easters), spring snowmelt, and ice jams. Hurricanes and tropical storms have historically struck the state, with the most damaging being the Great New England Hurricane of 1938, also called the Long Island Express, which struck the state on September 21, 1938. Large flood events that occurred between the 1930s to the 1960s led to the construction of many flood control projects by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, including the Connecticut River levee that protects the state capital of Hartford from flooding. Hurricane Sandy, which struck in October, 2012, will likely eclipse the damages of 1938. Sandy's effects continue to be felt throughout the area and this conference will highlight the recovery and mitigation steps underway to ensure future protection.

Throughout the week, more than 250 of the industry's experts will conduct plenary and concurrent sessions and share the state-of-the-art in techniques, programs, and resources to accomplish flood mitigation, watershed management, and other community goals. A three-day comprehensive exposition features the materials, equipment, accessories, and services vital to get the job done. Supplementary technical field tours and training workshops provide in-depth training. Numerous networking activities offer additional opportunities to learn from each other.

The conference is conducted by the Association of State Floodplain Managers, the world's leading voice for sound floodplain management, with 34 Chapters and over 15,000 members world-wide.

ASFPMConf

Follow @ASFPMConf

ASFPMConf Our conference website, including hotel info, full conference program, and registration info, is now live! asfpmconference.org

#ASFPM2013

33 days ago · reply · retweet · favorite

ASFPMConf Mark your calendar for June 9-14, 2013! ASFPM will hold our 37th Annual National Conference in Hartford, CT! #ASFPM2013

33 days ago · reply · retweet · favorite

ASFPMConf Chad Berginnis introducing Bill Anderson #ASFPM2012 twitpic.com/9apcaz

306 days ago · reply · retweet · favorite

ASFPMConf Last plenary session today - don't miss it! #ASFPM2012

306 days ago · reply · retweet · favorite

Join the conversation

The Association of State Floodplain Managers will convene the world's largest and most comprehensive floodplain management conference, our 37th annual gathering, June 9 - 14, 2013, in Hartford, Connecticut.

Conference Menu

- Registration
- Location
- Conference Program
- Sponsors
- Exhibits
- Field Tours
- Running of the Chapters
- Silent Auction
- Speaker Success Tips
- CFM Exam Info
- Continuing Education Credits
- Guests, Visitors, Press
- Join ASFPM
- Future ASFPM Conferences
- Contact Us
- Chapter Information

Conference Registration

ASFPM Individual Members registering as an individual should log in to the ASFPM Members Site to process the Conference Registration online.

All Non-members and those submitting exhibitor, sponsor, speaker, or presenter registrations should download the  Conference Registration Form and follow the instructions to submit.

The registration fee includes admission to the Sunday Welcome Fest, the Monday through Thursday conference program, exhibits, early bird sessions, Tuesday and Thursday luncheons, Tuesday and Thursday evening events, refreshment breaks, conference materials, participants list, a reserved electronic copy of the conference proceedings, and one supplemental training opportunity (choice of one workshop or one technical field tour).

	EARLY DISCOUNT	MAY 4 - JUNE 1	AFTER JUNE 1
ASFPM and RIFMA 2013 Members	$495	$565	$665
Non-members	$605	$680	$780
CT, RI, MA, VT, NH, and ME Local Officials	$385	$460	$560
One-Day Rate	$250
Exhibitors – ASFPM Corporate Partners	$1,100	$1300
Exhibitors – Non-Partner	$1,500	$1,700

Cancellation Policy: If your plans change and you cannot attend, written notice must be provided to the ASFPM Executive Office. Avoid the cancellation service charge by sending a substitute from your organization or choose to credit your paid registration fee to next year's conference! Otherwise, cancellations postmarked up to 5/30/13 will be assessed a $75 service charge. No refunds will be made after 5/30/13. All registrations received by ASFPM are subject to the cancellation policy regardless of payment status. "No shows" will be charged the full amount. No refunds can be made for unused events (workshops, tours, etc.). This policy applies to all affiliated pre- and post-conference activities. EXHIBITORS – see special cancellation terms in the Exhibitors Agreement.

Notice to All Exhibitors, Registrants, Instructors, Speakers, and Guests. By attending this ASFPM Conference, you are advised and agree that you may be photographed and/or electronically recorded during this conference. Accordingly, you hereby consent to ASFPM's use and distribution of your name and likeness for instructional or promotional purposes without compensation by or liability to ASFPM.

Disclaimer. Please be advised that the views, statements, and positions expressed orally or in writing