Subject: Approved rate

Kristen,

Myself and three other employees recently attendant the Financial crimes and money laundering conference in Austin, Tx. The hotel rate for the duration of the conference was set a $125 per night when the reservations were made. On the final day of the conference I was informed by the hotel staff of a registration issue which did not book the final night of the conference at the conference rate. Due to the limited amount of time to secure a room at another hotel at the approved rate and the conference hotel's unwillingness to honor the rate because of the booking error, I made the decision to stay in the same rooms at the only rate the hotel was offering.

Let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,

Josh Dale
