Welcome!

The 2022 FMCA Annual Meeting will be at the Hammock Beach Golf Resort & Spa, November 14-17, 2022. The meeting will offer professional presentations on a number of topics related to public health mosquito control in Florida, the south Atlantic region as well as the United States. Speakers and poster presentations from around the world will allow for peer exchange of ideas, new research and problem solving of common issues. Topics that may be discussed at this meeting include, but are not limited to:

- Novel techniques in operational mosquito control
- Public health trends and expected patterns
- Developing technologies
- Aerial applications, including drone/UAV applications
- Legislative and regulatory issues at local, State and Federal levels
- AI developments and applications in mosquito control
- New software developments improving work efficiencies
- New chemistries, novel product developments and resistance management
- Public education and outreach

We are looking forward to reconnecting with existing members and friends, and welcoming new faces into this group of outstanding public health professionals!

Please note we have new registration pricing!

For members, your registration is now based on a tier system and you will receive a discount after the first person from your district/organization is registered. We strongly recommend registering as a group so that you are able to easily keep track of your registrations. Commissioners are also now charged a flat fee for the full conference.

Registration fees will increase after November 1, 2022! Discounts are available to all Government Sustaining and Industry Sustaining Members in good standing for the 2022 calendar year.
