Tracks at a Glance

Gartner Leadership Forum 2024 focuses on the CIO role as the leader of the digital experience and on building the relationship and executive skills needed to accelerate innovative business and technology strategies.

Track A

CIO as CxO

For years, CIO leadership value was driven by technology advancements and operational requirements. Today, it is not technology that is driving role change but the need for CIOs to provide executive leadership in the C-suite. CIOs need to partner with executive peers to collectively achieve enterprise outcomes through digital capabilities. CIOs are now looked to for leadership beyond just traditional IT — all while driving business impact and C-suite partnership. In this track, we focus on how intentionally democratizing digital delivery achieves better business outcomes.

Track B

CIO as a Functional Leader

It's critical for the CIO to develop strategies that ensure their IT leadership team can run independent operational efforts, allowing them to focus on expanding their executive leadership influence. CIOs need to make sure the IT leadership team is functioning as a cohesive team and is capable of delivering all the leadership responsibilities to run the IT function effectively. In this track, we focus on organization design, business value of IT, talent and culture.
