Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department

Mental Health Program Service Coordinator

Grant Number: 4979501

Criminal Justice Grant Program, FY2025

$106,012.05

This grant aims to establish and expand the Turnaround Program with a Mental Health Program Service Coordinator to support and assist the mental health team as they work with those youth struggling with mental health in our community. The Turnaround Program is a collaboration between Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department and Texana, the local mental health provider. The grant will encourage the collaboration with community organizations, educational institutions, and government agencies. By building partnerships, we will enhance the coordination of services, maximize available resources, and provide a seamless support network for youth struggling with mental health. We will work with nonprofit organizations, which includes Fort Bend Partnership for Youth, Inc. (FBPFY). In addition, there will be monthly Court appearances along with the District Attorney's Office, and defense attorney, and Juvenile Judge to update them on the progress of the youth.

The Turnaround Program consists of specialized interventions developed for youth who suffer from a mental health diagnosis. Fort Bend County youth aged 10-17 who are a low to high level of risk and have a mental health diagnosis. Specifically youth who are suffering with a mental health diagnosis and not receiving mental health services such as counseling, support and medication. As a result, have a lack of positive role models, suffer from a low self-worth, and other risk factors that can greatly impact their future in a negative way without intervention. According to The World Health Organization, research shows that youth who have been diagnosed with mental health issues are at a greater risk for emotional disorders, behavioral disorders, eating disorders, psychosis, suicide and self-harm, risk taking behaviors, and referrals to juvenile justice departments. This can also cause youth to suffer from increased health problems, depression, poor hygiene, substance abuse issues, education deficiencies, etc. Research further shows that early recognition, intervention, education, life skills training, counseling, and support are imperative to preventing these issues from further negatively impacting the effects this will have on a youth's current living situation and future success. The World Health Organization believes "Adolescence is a crucial period for developing social and emotional habits important for mental well-being. These include adopting healthy sleep patterns; exercising regularly; developing coping, problem-solving, and interpersonal skills; and learning to manage emotions. Protective and supportive environments in the family, at school and in the wider community are important." The Turnaround Program was developed based on research and data driven information showing that intervention with the use of mental health services will greatly reduce these possible life altering issues and increase the positive protective factors. These are the exact youth that the Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department works with on a daily basis.

The Fort Bend County Community Supervision and Corrections Department (CSCD - adult probation) also facilitates the Adult TCOOMMI Project. CSCD also collaborates with Texana to jointly provide intensive case management services to probation or parole clients who exhibit serious and persistent mental health issues. The Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department's Turnaround Program is a mirror image of the Adult TCOOMMI Project. In fact, once youth age out of the juvenile system they can be transitioned into the adult project if still active in the criminal justice system. In addition, if a youth's supervision ends prior to aging out of the system, they are traditionally referred for continued services with Texana.

The grant award will be used to support the salary and benefits of the Mental Health Program Service Coordinator position. There would be no part of the project "scalable" if additional cuts are made.

The Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department intends to research and approach other government and alternative funding sources for the continued support of the Mental Health Program Service Coordinator after the grant period or in the event that the funding is reduced or terminated.

Project Abstract :

This grant aims to establish and expand the Turnaround Program with a Mental Health Program Service Coordinator to support and assist the mental health team as they work with those youth struggling with mental health in our community. The Turnaround Program is a collaboration between Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department and Texana, the local mental health provider. The Mental Health Program Service Coordinator plays a vital role in facilitating access to essential services, resources, and opportunities for these youth, ensuring they receive comprehensive and personalized care. The primary objective of this grant is to enhance the capacity of our organization to provide high-quality care coordinated services to youth struggling with mental health. By securing funding for an additional Mental Health Program Service Coordinator, we will be able to increase our outreach and impact, effectively addressing the unique needs of a larger number of youth. Key components of the Mental Health Program Service Coordinator include: Mental Health Support Coordinator Recruitment and Training: With grant funding, we will recruit a highly qualified Mental Health Program Service Coordinator with the necessary skills, expertise, and compassion to work with vulnerable youth. Extensive training will be provided to ensure they are equipped to navigate complex situations, build trust with the youth, and connect them with appropriate services. Service Expansion: The grant will enable us to expand the scope of services provided by a Mental Health Program Service Coordinator. The department will be able to offer a more comprehensive range of support, which includes: educational assistance, mental health counseling, career guidance, life skills training, housing support, healthcare access, and connection to legal assistance if needed. This expanded service provision will address the diverse needs of the youth and empower them to overcome barriers to success. Personalized Care Planning: Mental Health Program Service Coordinator will work closely with each youth and family to assess their specific needs, strengths, and goals. Together they will develop personalized care plans that outline a clear path to success. These plans will be regularly reviewed and adjusted to ensure they remain relevant and responsive to the changing circumstances and aspirations of the youth. Collaboration and Partnership: The grant will encourage the collaboration with community organizations, educational institutions, and government agencies. By building partnerships, we will enhance the coordination of services, maximize available resources, and provide a seamless support network for youth struggling with mental health. These collaborations will also foster a comprehensive and holistic approach to care. Monitoring and Evaluation: A robust monitoring and evaluation system will be established to assess the effectiveness and impact of the Mental Health Program Service Coordinator. Key outcome indicators, such as educational attainment, employment rates, mental health outcomes, and overall well-being, will be measured to ensure accountability and continuous improvement. With the help of the Mental Health Program Service Coordinator, we seek to strengthen our organization's ability to support youth suffering with mental health by expanding our team of care coordinators. With their expertise and personalized approach, we aim to assist youth with mental health to find the appropriate services to assist them in developing resilience, and create a brighter future for themselves. This project will make a significant difference in the lives of the youth we serve, improving their well-being and prospects for long-term success.

Problem Statement :

The National Institute for Mental Health estimates that half of all mental health conditions manifest by age 14, yet youth typically wait 8-10 years before accessing care. In Texas, two-thirds of children living with major depression receive no treatment whatsoever. Early identification and intervention are critical to reducing the prevalence and severity of mental illness in young Texans. All Texans are worthy of mental health support, yet Texas adolescents and teens are particularly vulnerable to the life-threatening effects of depression and suicidal ideation. Our youth are in a state of emergency, facing stress from the COVID-19 pandemic, widespread school closures, extreme financial strain, and inflation. Not to mention, millions of Texas families are without insurance with the end of the Medicaid eligibility expansion, making it more difficult for families with mental health needs to get into the much needed mental health services without assistance. The Turnaround Program is an intense and community based treatment program utilized to meet the needs of youth who are diagnosed with mental health conditions. Families receive a variety of mental health services and support to equip them with a higher sense of self-sufficiency within the community. Services include psychiatric and psychological services, intensive home and school based interventions including: individual and family counseling, drug education, skills training, family support, as well as access to community programs and resources. All youth under Court ordered supervision in the program appear in Court on a specialized docket monthly.

Judge Juli Mathew provides each youth with support and accountability need for each youth's success. Each youth is assigned to the Specialized Juvenile Probation Officer and Texana Therapist of the Turnaround Program. The Turnaround Probation Officer monitors academic progress, family dynamics, social functioning, and rule compliance. Youth participating in the program receive weekly counseling from the Texana Therapist, which includes individual, group, and family intervention services. Treatment interventions incorporate both counseling and psychiatric services needed to stabilize the youth's struggling with mental illness. The department has made significant progress with the existing mental health program; however, there is still a critical need for a dedicated Mental Health Program Service Coordinator position within the Turnaround Program to provide comprehensive care and coordination of services. With this addition of a dedicated Mental Health Program Service Coordinator, the department can add to the progress made and complete the wrap around approach. The Mental Health Program Service Coordinator will be trained to offer the youth such programs as life skills development, independent living skills, money management and other programs that will allow the youth to increase their potential for a successful future. Additionally, the program is in need of this position to assist the family of these youth to allow them to be successful in their own homes and reduce the risk of removal. The Mental Health Program Service Coordinator will assist the family with community resources, parenting, housing and transportation to appointments, adding much needed support. An ultimate goal of this position would be to keep these at-risk youth out of placement and in the community and to provide the youth with much needed services. The Mental Health Program Service Coordinator will assist in the Courtroom, making sure that the family appears in court as ordered and that all court ordered resources are implemented. They will work with nonprofit organizations, which includes Fort Bend Partnership for Youth, Inc. (FBPFY). The above key points are just a few of the reasons there is such a great need for expanding the Turnaround Program to include a Mental Health Program Service Coordinator.

Supporting Data :

The Surgeon General's Advisory on Protecting Youth Mental Health, "Childhood and adolescence are critical times for physical and mental development. Development of good mental health is important for overall good health and well-being throughout the lifespan." They have outlined a "series of recommendations to improve youth mental health across 11 sectors, including young people and their families, educators and schools, and media and technology companies." Recommendations from the The Surgeon General's Advisory on Protecting Youth Mental Health include: • Recognize that mental health is an essential part of overall health. • Empower youth and their families to recognize, manage, and learn from difficult emotions. • Ensure that every child has access to high-quality, affordable, and culturally competent mental health care. • Support the mental health of children and youth in educational, community, and childcare settings, and expand and support the early childhood and education workforce. • Address the economic and social barriers that contribute to poor mental health for young people, families, and caregivers. • Increase timely data collection and research to identify and respond to youth mental health needs more rapidly, including more research on the relationship between technology and youth mental health. In addition, technology companies should be more transparent with data and algorithmic processes to enable this research.

Project Approach & Activities:

The Turnaround Program consists of specialized interventions developed for youth who suffer from a mental health diagnosis. Juveniles in the program receive weekly counseling from the Texana Therapist, which includes individual, group, and family intervention services. Treatment interventions incorporate psychiatric assessments and medication management as needed with Texana mental health. Counseling services also strive to empower the youth and their families with skills and knowledge to live successfully with a mental health diagnosis. The Mental Health Program Service Coordinator will conduct comprehensive support, education, and intervention services. They will facilitate timely access to vital services, including medical and mental health care, counseling, connection to legal assistance if needed, housing, and education. They will work closely with service providers to ensure seamless coordination and follow-up support for youth. The Mental Health Program Service Coordinator will engage in regular collaboration meetings with community stakeholders, mental health staffings, sharing information, and coordinating joint initiatives. They will also conduct outreach and educational sessions to raise awareness about mental health. There will be monthly Court appearances along with the Probation Officer, therapist, program supervisor, District Attorney, and defense attorney to update the team on the progress of the youth. The Mental Health Program Service Coordinator will: - provide an initial screening and assessment of needs utilizing a screening tool(s). - provide the youth with an initial and ongoing assessment(s) to determine an individualized resource needs approach. - will facilitate timely access to vital services, including medical and mental health care, counseling, connection to legal services if needed, housing, and education - will work closely with service providers to ensure seamless coordination and follow-up support for youth at risk - will engage in regular collaboration meetings with community stakeholders, sharing information, and coordinating joint initiatives - will conduct outreach and educational sessions to raise awareness about mental health and empower at-risk individuals - will provide evidence-based programming, Parent Project classes, life-skills development, vocational skills, and independent living training By establishing a Mental Health Program Service Coordinator position within the Turnaround Program, we aim to provide comprehensive care, improve service coordination, and strengthen collaborations to support at-risk youth. The Mental Health Program Service Coordinator will be instrumental in ensuring at-risk youth receive the necessary services and support to be a successful member of the community while maintaining proper care over mental health risks. Through this grant, we can make a significant impact in combating mental health stigmas and support at-risk youth in our community.

Capacity & Capabilities:

The Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department has a long history of collaboration with numerous community resources. Over the years, the department has established successful networking relationships with local law enforcement agencies, school districts, mental health and substance abuse service providers, and additional community programs. The department has developed and maintained ongoing partnerships with higher education and trade schools, in addition to having a current database of local employers to assist with finding jobs for youth in the area. The Mental Health Program Service Coordinator will be trained in the following capacities at a minimum: - Parent Project curriculum - Trust Based Relational Intervention (TBRI) - Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department in-house services - availability of outside community-based services and programs - social services - Medicaid eligibility and application process - housing assistance and application process - CPR / First Aid - defensive driving - encourage possibility of higher education and assist in application process - life skills development - promoting independent living skills - assist in removing barriers blocking physical health and personal well being

Performance Management :

Each youth will: - receive an initial assessment to determine individualized resource needs and reassessments to update service plan as youth progress through the program - participate in one life skills development activity a month while in the program - be referred to at least two resources upon completion of the program - collaborative case planning - skills training and education - psychiatric services/medication monitoring - individual and/or group therapy - early intervention - vocational services - benefits eligibility services - parental support and education The department is currently utilizing the Juvenile Justice Case Management (JCMS) system to track the majority of the data. The department also maintains additional departmental data through an excel sheet. All program staff are highly trained to enter and maintain the most accurate data.

Target Group :

Fort Bend County youth aged 10-17 who are a low to high level of risk and have a mental health diagnosis. Specifically youth who are suffering with a mental health diagnosis and not receiving mental health services such as counseling, support and medication. As a result, have a lack of positive role models, suffer from a low self-worth, and other risk factors that can greatly impact their future in a negative way without intervention.

Evidence-Based Practices:

According to The World Health Organization, research shows that youth who have been diagnosed with mental health issues are at a greater risk for emotional disorders, behavioral disorders, eating disorders, psychosis, suicide and self-harm, risk taking behaviors, and referrals to juvenile justice departments. This can also cause youth to suffer from increased health problems, depression, poor hygiene, substance abuse issues, education deficiencies, etc. Research further shows that early recognition, intervention, education, life skills training, counseling, and support are imperative to preventing these issues from further negatively impacting the effects this will have on a youth's current living situation and future success. The World Health Organization believes "Adolescence is a crucial period for developing social and emotional habits important for mental well-being. These include adopting healthy sleep patterns; exercising regularly; developing coping, problem-solving, and interpersonal skills; and learning to manage emotions. Protective and supportive environments in the family, at school and in the wider community are important." The Turnaround Program was developed based on research and data driven information showing that intervention with the use of mental health services will greatly reduce these possible life altering issues and increase the positive protective factors. According to Health and Human Services, the use of evidence-based practices can greatly influence a reduction in risk factors through increased or strengthened protective factors. The following are risk factors that participants in the mental health program can anticipate: - improved self-esteem - increased academic achievement - strengthened social skills - improved family relationships - increased feelings of belonging - increased access to support services The department utilizes the Positive Achievement Change Tool (PACT), which is a well known evidence-based assessment to assist in the identification of a youth's risk factors and the needs to combat these issues. The Health and Human Services department also believes that an evidence-based program would focus on the following factors, all of which are identified and worked on in the department's mental health program: - enhanced cultural identity and pride - decreased instances of substance use and misuse - decreased risk for health issues related to substance use and unhealthy habits - reduced likelihood of legal issues - reduced risk for behavioral health issues - reduced costs to society associated with health care, law enforcement and assistance programs - enhanced sense of well-being - improved quality of life
