Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department

Youth Community Outreach Coordinator

Grant Number: 4427703

Juvenile Justice & Truancy Prevention Grant, FY2025

$75,805.19

Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department's Youth Community Outreach Coordinators will incorporate education, counseling, job skills, life skills, mentoring, and productive recreational activities for local youth. Participants will include 10-17 year olds who have been identified as at-risk youth. The coordinators will interact with school districts, service organizations, mental health and substance abuse providers, community churches, and law enforcement agencies to establish positive relationships with youth. In conjunction with services provided by the department, services will be provided by local school districts, mental health service providers (Texana), substance abuse treatment services (Fort Bend Regional Council on Substance Abuse), higher education and trade schools (Wharton County Junior College, Texas State Technical College, etc.), mentors, service organizations, potential local employers, community churches, and local law enforcement agencies.

In the past few years, there has been a substantial increase in serious violent crimes among the youth being referred to the Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department. These violent offenders not only have a negative impact on their community and family, they have negatively influenced other youth in the school setting. Currently there is a lack of community based and school programs providing intervention, truancy prevention, mental health and substance abuse referrals, and personal life skills mentoring. Without an established program, it is difficult to intervene and prevent youth from being referred to the juvenile justice system. Many youth face a variety of day-to-day challenges that put them at risk for falling off track. In the past four years, there have been nine referrals for murder, when the 18 months prior to that, there were zero referrals for murder. Additionally, there has been an increase in violent crime offenses referred to the Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department from 2020 to 2023. These are the exact youth that the Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department works with on a daily basis. With the prevention and intervention provided by the Youth Community Outreach Coordinator, the department is able to deter youth from being referred to the juvenile justice system.

The Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department's program mirrors The Expose Excellence youth Foundation Program that was created by the Fort Bend County District Attorney's Office. Like the probation department, "The Expose Excellence Youth Foundation spearheads collaborations with school administrators, non-profit organizations, and local community leaders to provide educational resources and youth programming for kids ages 10-17." The only difference being that these youth have not been referred to the juvenile justice system. Both programs have the same mission, "to ensure that our youth have the skills, knowledge, and support needed to thrive and reach their goals."

Leading with the inaugural program in Fort Bend County, we strive to ensure that youth have the skills, knowledge, and support needed to thrive and reach their goals.

The grant award will be used to support the salary and benefits of the Youth Community Outreach Coordinator position. There would be no part of the project “scalable” if additional cuts are made.

The Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department intends to research and approach other government and alternative funding sources for the continued support of the Youth Community Outreach Coordinator after the grant period or in the event that the funding is reduced or terminated.

Project Abstract :

Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department's Youth Community Outreach Coordinators will incorporate education, counseling, job skills, life skills, mentoring, and productive recreational activities for local youth. Participants will include 10-17 year olds who have been identified as at-risk youth. The coordinators will interact with school districts, service organizations, mental health and substance abuse providers, community churches, and law enforcement agencies to establish positive relationships with youth. These established relationships are necessary to intervene with at-risk youth before being referred to the juvenile justice system and prevent youth from participating in delinquent behavior. The basic approach of this program is meant to be a hands-on, directly involved positive presence in the schools and community to provide a support system to youth who otherwise are surrounded by negative influence.

Problem Statement :

In the past few years, there has been a substantial increase in serious violent crimes among the youth being referred to the Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department. These violent offenders not only have a negative impact on their community and family, they have negatively influenced other youth in the school setting. Currently there is a lack of community based and school programs providing intervention, truancy prevention, mental health and substance abuse referrals, and personal life skills mentoring. Without an established program, it is difficult to intervene and prevent youth from being referred to the juvenile justice system. In addition, according to youthmentor.org, one out of three young people do not have a trusted adult who they believe they can turn to for advice or guidance. Of those, many youth face a variety of day-to-day challenges that put them at risk for falling off track.

Supporting Data :

According to the National Dropout Prevention Center, the dropout rate for students with emotional / behavioral disabilities is twice that of general education students. Risk and protective factors have an impact on truancy and are often related to safety: fear of harm, fear of victimization, and abuse in the home. Other common risk factors are frequent problems with school work, substance abuse, and mental health problems. Statistics also show that school dropouts are 3.5 times more likely than high school graduates to be arrested in their lifetime. Texas courts.org reports that "up to 70 percent of youth in contact with the juvenile justice system meet the criteria for a mental health disorder; 60 percent of this group also has a concurrent substance use disorder". Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department has seen an increase in violent crimes in recent years. In the past four years, there have been nine referrals for murder, when the 18 months prior to that, there were zero referrals for murder. Additionally, there has been an increase in violent crime offenses referred to the Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department from 2020 to 2023.

Project Approach & Activities:

Establish and support communication with youth's current school administration to promote attendance and a positive outlook on the importance of education, assisting in advocating for the youth by accessing educational resources and overcoming barriers to educational opportunities. Establishing contacts with higher education and trade schools to assist with the admissions and application of financial aid. Making mental health, behavioral health, and substance abuse referrals as needed. Provide life skills, mentoring, and recreational activities as an alternative to delinquency. Providing assistance with job applications, interviewing techniques, skills needed to obtain and maintain employment, and utilizing relationships established with the Texas Workforce Commission to help place youth in steady employment.

Capacity & Capabilities:

The Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department has a long history of collaboration with numerous community resources. Over the years, the department has established successful networking relationships with local law enforcement agencies, school districts, mental health and substance abuse service providers, and additional community programs. The department has developed and maintained ongoing partnerships with higher education and trade schools, in addition to having a current database of local employers to assist with finding jobs for youth in the area.

Performance Management :

Data will be collected through the Juvenile Case Management System (JCMS) to include demographics, chronological notes, and program success rates. Participation logs, mentoring hours, and school records will also be collected and evaluated. Additionally, constant communication and collaboration with partnering entities (DA's Office, Fort Bend County Sheriff's Department, and the Fort Bend County Commissioners Office) will be maintained to measure progress. The overall goal is to reduce violence in and around school through prevention and intervention services with at-risk youth in Fort Bend County.

Target Group :

Fort Bend County youth aged 10-17 who have been identified as at-risk by parents, school districts, churches, law enforcement agencies, or other community organizations. Fort Bend County Juvenile Probation Department will provide behavioral health services and substance abuse services. In conjunction with those services provided by the department, services will be provided by local school districts, mental health service providers (Texana), substance abuse treatment services (Fort Bend Regional Council on Substance Abuse), higher education and trade schools (Wharton County Junior College, Texas State Technical College, etc.), mentors, service organizations, potential local employers, community churches, and local law enforcement agencies. 244 youth participated and received services in EEYP 2023, ages ranging from 10-17. While enrolled, each youth received a minimum of four (4) contacts in the home, school, or community per month by the assigned Youth Community Outreach Coordinator. There were several graduates from high school who were not on the road to graduation prior to being enrolled in the program. Of those graduates, there have been several that have accomplished the great achievement of being enrolled into college, trade school, and joined the military. Many youth have obtained their driver's license with the assistance of EEYP. There were also a great number of youth that showed academic improvement by enrolling into the tutorial services offered through EEYP. While enrolled in the Expose Excellence Youth Program, youth have the opportunity to participate in Summer programs and various field trips. Summer programs and field trips include life skills, financial literacy, CPR/first aid, fishing, art expression, character education, job preparation and assistance in securing employment, college tours, etc. In 2023, each summer program and field trip had over 50 participants in attendance. In 2023, 42 youth / families received direct counseling services provided by the juvenile probation department therapists and numerous others received services from partner agencies.

Evidence-Based Practices:

Taking into account the large number of youth in the juvenile justice system who had identifiable mental health and substance abuse problems, early identification of such would allow treatment to begin prior to a referral to the juvenile justice system. Historically, DFPS indicates, "more than 95% of youth engaged in PEI (prevention and early intervention) services did not become involved with the juvenile justice system". A study of Big Brothers and Big Sisters organization shows that students who meet regularly with a mentor are 52% less likely than their peers to skip a day of school and 37% less likely to skip a class. According to mentoring.org, young adults who had mentors when they were young are 55% more likely to be enrolled in college and more than twice as likely to say they held a leadership position in an extracurricular activity. Additionally, 78% of young adults who had mentors as kids are volunteering regularly in their communities and becoming a positive influence to other at-risk youth. The program is highly mentoring based, as supported by evidencebasedmentoring.org's theory that mentoring generally works with "recognition, coaching coping skills and stimulating self-direction". Nij.ojp.gov stresses the importance of "visiting their homes to discuss problems and find solutions, attending parent-teacher conferences, and standing in for parents when needed". Thus showing that "76% of program youth graduated from high school, compared with 40%" of youth who were not provided with a mentor. The Fort Bend County Youth Community Outreach Program, along with many other services, mirrors this concept.
