COMMUNITY IMPACT

Have you unsuccessfully reached out to the city for funds to purchase the equipment?

~~We have previously reached out to the County to request funds for equipment through our Hazardous Material Team budget. Unfortunately our requests were denied due to budget constraints and competing priorities for community resources. Despite these efforts, we have not received the necessary funding. As a result, we are actively pursuing alternative funding sources, including grants and partnerships with organizations such as the Firehouse Subs Public Safety Foundation, to ensure we have the tools and equipment needed to keep our community safe.~~

Background/History

The Fort Bend County Fire Marshal's Office was established on February 1, 1985, to oversee fire prevention, investigation, inspections, and life-safety services in the unincorporated areas of Fort Bend County, Texas. As the county and the surrounding Houston metropolitan area experienced rapid growth during the 1990s and early 2000s, the transportation and use of hazardous materials increased along major highways, rail corridors, and industrial facilities throughout the region.

Prior to the creation of a local hazardous materials response capability, agencies within Fort Bend County frequently relied on neighboring jurisdictions—particularly the City of Houston—for assistance during major hazardous materials incidents. Recognizing the need for faster, locally based response capabilities, the Fort Bend County Hazardous Materials Response Team was subsequently established under the administrative oversight of the Fire Marshal's Office and the Special Operations Division. The team was created to provide 24-hour hazardous materials response coverage throughout the county and to support local fire departments during incidents involving chemical releases, transportation accidents, and industrial emergencies.

Today, the team is made up of full-time hazardous materials technicians who maintain advanced training and specialized certifications. The team has achieved FEMA Type I capability, the highest level for hazardous materials response teams, demonstrating its advanced training, specialized equipment, and readiness to operate. The Fort Bend County Hazardous Materials Response Team continues to safeguard the community through quick response, interagency cooperation, ongoing training, and regional mutual aid support.

Community Impact

Was there a particular instance where a life would have been positively impacted if you would have had the equipment available?

Yes. Our team responded to an incident involving an 18-wheel tanker trailer carrying molten sulfur that had developed a leak between the inner and outer skins of the trailer. Because the product was trapped inside the trailer walls, responders had to manually open the trailer using air chisels to find the source of the leak. This process was time-consuming and required HazMat technicians to remain in fully encapsulated chemical protective suits for an extended period while operating inside the hot zone.

If a hydraulic rescue tool had been available, our team could have quickly cut and spread the trailer's outer skin to access the leaking area.

This would have significantly reduced the time required to locate and control the leak, minimizing responder exposure and helping to limit the potential impact to the surrounding community.

Hydraulic rescue tools would also allow our team to quickly pinch off a leaking pipeline when shutoff valves are inaccessible. Because HazMat technicians are specifically trained to operate in fully encapsulated chemical protective clothing, this equipment would allow our team to safely perform these critical actions in contaminated environments where other fire department personnel are unable to operate. Access to this equipment would enable our team to respond more quickly to hazardous materials incidents, reduce responder risk, and better protect the community during dangerous chemical emergencies.

What positive effects will the equipment specifically have? Please describe how the requested equipment or funding would benefit your local community. We ask that you do not cite national statistics.

The Fort Bend County HazMat Team is a specialized regional response unit dedicated to protecting the residents, workers, and visitors of Fort Bend County during hazardous materials emergencies. Our team responds to incidents across the county and supports all 20 incorporated cities within Fort Bend County. In addition, we are regularly requested to provide mutual aid to neighboring counties when hazardous materials incidents require specialized training and equipment.

The requested equipment will directly enhance our team's ability to protect life and property during hazardous materials emergencies. Currently, in certain situations our personnel must wait for additional fire department units with specialized tools before rescue operations can begin. These delays can slow victim location and removal during incidents where every minute matters. By equipping the Fort Bend County HazMat Team with this tool, responders will be able to immediately begin locating victims and initiating rescue operations upon arrival.

This capability will significantly improve emergency response effectiveness and reduce the time victims remain exposed to hazardous environments. Faster victim location allows responders to quickly remove individuals from dangerous conditions, begin medical care sooner, and reduce the potential for serious injury or loss of life. The equipment will also enhance responder safety by providing our personnel with the resources needed to operate more efficiently in complex and potentially dangerous environments.

Along with aiding rescue efforts, this equipment will enable responders to quickly identify and locate hazardous material leaks. Fast leak detection helps crews isolate and control the source more quickly, reducing the spread of dangerous substances and minimizing potential harm to nearby neighborhoods, businesses, and critical infrastructure. This ability will help lower exposure risks for emergency personnel and the community while speeding up mitigation efforts.

Providing this equipment will strengthen the operational capabilities of the Fort Bend County HazMat Team and ensure responders have the tools necessary to act immediately during high-risk incidents. Ultimately, this investment will enhance responder safety, improve emergency response effectiveness, and help safeguard the residents and visitors of Fort Bend County during hazardous materials emergencies.

Because the Fort Bend County HazMat Team serves multiple jurisdictions and frequently assists surrounding counties, the benefits of this equipment will extend throughout the region. Funding this request will strengthen regional emergency preparedness, improve interagency response capabilities, and ensure that highly trained responders have the critical tools needed to save lives.

Support from the Firehouse Subs Public Safety Foundation will allow our team to respond faster, operate more safely, and better protect the communities we proudly serve.

What positive effects will the funds specifically have? Please describe how the requested funding would benefit your local community. We ask that you do not cite national statistics.

Funding from the Firehouse Subs Public Safety Foundation would directly improve the Fort Bend County HazMat Team's ability to protect residents, businesses, and visitors during hazardous materials emergencies. The team responds to incidents throughout Fort Bend County, supporting all 20 incorporated cities and frequently providing mutual aid to neighboring jurisdictions when specialized hazmat resources are needed.

The requested equipment will allow responders to immediately begin locating victims and initiating rescue operations upon arrival. Currently, in some situations, crews must wait for additional units with specialized tools before beginning these operations. Eliminating this delay will allow victims to be found and removed from hazardous environments more quickly, helping responders begin medical care sooner and reducing the risk of serious injury.

The equipment will also allow responders to quickly identify and locate hazardous material leaks, enabling crews to isolate and control the source faster. This will help limit the spread of hazardous substances and reduce exposure risks to nearby neighborhoods, businesses, and responders.

Overall, this funding will strengthen regional hazmat response capabilities, improve responder safety, and help better protect the communities served by the Fort Bend County HazMat Team.
